GLORIA! A Christmas Celebration

The concert will feature Gloria by Francis Poulenc. Members of the Brevard Symphony Orchestra will accompany, and Amy Cofield will be soprano soloist. Also on the program are Robert Russell Bennett's Many Moods of Christmas. These delightful arrangements of familiar Christmas carols are sure to warm the hearts of everyone in attendance.

And finally, the concert will feature the world premiere of The Unknown Region by David Brunner. The piece was commissioned by the Brevard Community Chorus in celebration of their 50th anniversary in 2019, but because of the pandemic, they were unable to present the premiere until now. Dr. Brunner is the recently retired director of choral activities at University of Central Florida and a composer with worldwide stature. The text of the piece is by Walt Whitman and celebrates the fact that the chorus has been offering opportunities for volunteer singers on Florida's Space Coast since 1969.

The current conductor of the chorus is Dr. Robert E. Lamb who came to BCC in 1998. Under his leadership, the chorus has continued to tour Europe during summers and has performed a number of times alongside the Brevard Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Lamb is currently Professor of Music, Director of Choral Activities, and Chair of the Department of Fine and Performing Arts at Brevard Community College.

CHRISTMAS WITH SAL

Golden-voiced crooner Sal "The Voice" Valentinetti returns to the King Center to perform holiday favorites and standards that he's known for with the Rat-Pack style that has made him a hugely popular entertainer since he rose to fame on America's Got Talent. After belting out the classic Frank Sinatra hit, "My Way," Sal received a standing ovation and was awarded the coveted "Golden Buzzer" from supermodel judge, Heidi Klum. Sal later performed a holiday duet of "Santa Baby" with Klum.

Sal left for Hollywood as a pizza delivery man and returned home to Bethpage as a National Rock Star. Sal "The Voice" Valentinetti sold out three Christmas Shows at the now famous, Paramount Theatre in Huntington, New York. Since then Sal has performed at the King Center three times, and Brevard Live Magazine has talked to him twice. It doesn't take long to realize just how tenacious he is. Sal is a man of large stature that is only out matched by his incredible voice. But, to speak with him it's easy to see that his heart and personality is the biggest part about him. In January 2021 he told BL interviewer Matt Bretz that he has moved from New York to Miami to escape the strict pandemic rules.

This concert is a wonderful opportunity to get into the Christmas spirit.

A ROCKAPPELLA CHRISTMAS

They've become one of the world's most sophisticated, lasting, and imitated vocal groups around today. You'd be hard-pressed to find a more influential group out there in this new era of movies like Pitch Perfect, network television a cappella shows, and innumerable college vocal groups that own the corner of cool on campuses everywhere.

Since the early '90's when they first achieved national television fame on PBS's Where In The World Is Carmen Sandiego?, they've toured the globe and provided a funky powerful soundtrack to several generations of vocal music fans, while keeping it all fresh along the way. With buckets of catchy original pop songs, and complete contemporary revisions of sparkling Motown, pop, and soul classics, this group has always been the one to watch. The current Rockapella line-up features Scott Leonard (since 1991, High Tenor), Jeff Thacher (1993, Vocal Percussionist), Calvin Jones (2013, Tenor), Bryant Vance (2016, Bass), and Jose Rodriguez (2019, Tenor). "We make it rock and make it interesting," explains Scott Leonard, the group's chief songwriter, arranger, and an architect of their ever-evolving and imitated dynamic sound.

CANAAN SMITH

By Steve Keller

There are few traditions for yearly concerts here in Brevard County. One of them has become the free New Year's Eve concert presented by Hurricane Creek Saloon in Downtown Melbourne. This year's event features Country music's Canaan Smith.

Smith is part of a rare breed on the Country music scene. He is able to perform at a high level with contemporaries like Blake, Luke and Kenny, but he also has paid his dues behind the scenes. Not only does he continue to write and produce his own songs, but he writes for other artists, too. "We're gonna play my songs that folks are familiar with," he explains while calling into Brevard Live to promote the show. "We're gonna play some new songs, too."

After years of hard work, Smith became an 'overnight' success in 2015 with the release of his major label debut CD Bronco. Fueled by the hit single 'Love You Like That', he checked all the boxes to become a mega success. Good looks and memorable hooks, not to mention the good feeling video that has racked up more than 28 million views on YouTube. The video shows the party in the woods cliché that is so successful in the genre. The lead single skyrocketed to #1 on the Billboard Country Airplay charts and announced Smith as one of country music's hottest young stars of the year.

The Bronco album spawned a second Top 40 hit when 'Hole In The Bottle' landed at #20 on Billboard's Country Airplay chart. The accompanying video showed that the party could go anywhere, including the roller rink. The feel-good song, complete with plenty of friends and alcohol flowing, shows 'the let the good times roll mentally' that Country music is known for. "We're going to party and have a good time," Smith continues when talking about he and his band are coming to Melbourne on the biggest party night of the year.

Touring opportunities came along with his initial success as he opened for Dirks Bentley in 2015. His momentum continued as he was the direct support in 2018 for Brantley Gilbert's Blackout Tour. "Touring has changed in the last couple of years after the Pandemic," says Smith. "We've had to strip down the production which gives it a more raw look live."

This same rawness that Smith has evolved into is somewhat rare in this day and age of country music. He seemed to be given room to mature. His songwriting became less paint by numbers and more natural and heartfelt. His look changed (he grew a beard). He seemed to step away from the flavor of the month club and became more comfortable in his own skin. A new album and a new record label last year followed suit, admittedly, to less fanfare but more substance.

The new album, High Country Sound and first single 'Colder Than You', are departures somewhat from his debut 7 years ago. Gone is the flash, replaced with a more rugged, sincere approach. Don't worry though, the hooks are still there. The lead single is a slowed down account of lost love. Instead of dwelling, Smith boasts of all the good that has come from it. The video shows him out in the woods, making a special brew all by himself.

Also gone is the major label, replaced by Round Here Records. Far from an indie label, it is the new label from Tyler Hubbard and Brian Kelly, formally of Florida Georgia Line. No strangers to the pair, they have known each other since college, written together as well as toured extensively together over the years.

For all of his success in the lime-light, Canaan Smith's greatest contributions may be behind the scenes. It is still uncommon for an artist to write their own songs. Although Smith does, he is also very detrimental in other artists' careers. He was responsible in co-writing many of what would turn out to be Florida Georgia Line's last release, and worked on solo albums put out by both Tyler Hubbard and Brian Kelly (Smith is credited on 7 songs on the latter's debut). He also was a writer on the compilation 'Hardy's Mixtape Volume II' where he collaborated with Morgan Wallen. Country star and Vero Beach native Jake Owen has also worked with Smith on an upcoming track that has yet to be released.

All in all, it appears that Canaan Smith has found his voice. The song 'Mason Jars and Fireflies' talks about growing up country but has a very modern beat to it. His career has something for everybody; the traditional country fans and current generation that wants to dance to it. At age 40, he should be able to carry on his appeal to both purists and modern country fans alike.

It will be interesting to see and hear what songs Smith performs on New Year's Eve. With two albums worth of material, as well as new unreleased songs, he should be able to entertain the masses with ease. "It's gonna be one for the books," he says of the Melbourne show. It will be out with the old and the promise of a new, Canaan Smith will bring the party to Brevard County.

The street party and stage are on Vernon Street, right next to Hurricane Creek Saloon. The Last Call Band will be the opening band, followed by Canaan Smith at 10:30pm. It's a free concert.

BISCUIT MILLER

Every month Franni Southern, Entertainment director at Earl's Hideaway, gives us the line-up of live music that has made this venue to the music destination it is these days. The last time she also had a message: "We are open this year on Christmas Day featuring Southern Rock's Finest. Our New Year's Eve Party features Tru Phonic (2-5pm) and at 8pm the Big Daddy Band." Lots of music for the holidays. Then Franni adds, "Biscuit Miller is coming back in December. Take a closer look at him." So we did!

David Leon "Biscuit" Miller (born December 30, 1961) is an electric blues bassist, singer and songwriter. He writes most of his own material, and has released three albums to date. In 2012 and 2017, Miller won a Blues Music Award in the 'Instrumentalist - Bass' category.

Miller was born in South Side, Chicago, Illinois, United States, and was raised by his grandmother. He found a four string electric bass guitar belonging to his friend's elder brother and immediately was inspired to try to play the instrument. Miller discovered the blues via his connection to Willie Dixon. "I went to school with Willie's kids," Miller said, "and Willie did one of the first blues programs in Chicago. Once, he brought in this little kid named Lucky Peterson," and Miller noted "hearing the band play excited... and made me want to play music." By 2009, Miller had formed his own band. Miller noted that "I was getting on up in my 50s... I'd done all this playing with everybody else, and it just seemed like time. I can play this bass fairly well and I can sing a little bit and I know how to smile." Blues with a Smile was released in 2010. Guest performers included Billy Branch on harmonica, Ronnie Baker Brooks and Shawn Kellerman on guitar and Andrew "Blaze" Thomas on drums. In 2012 Miller gained his first Blues Music Award, whilst Blues with a Smile received airplay on Sirius XM Radio. In 2013, Miller performed at the Daytona Blues Festival.

His most recent recording was Wishbone (2016), where the title track was inspired by Miller's two grandsons being excited about making a wish on the turkey wishbone during their Thanksgiving dinner. In May 2017, Miller won his second Blues Music Award in the 'Instrumentalist - Bass' category. Down Beat described him as "a real crowd-pleaser."

If you haven't been to Earl's yet, or not for a while, take a ride along the beautiful Indian River and experience some great southern hospitality with libations and tasty food including pizza, burgers, hot dogs, sandwiches, chicken, fish; they even serve breakfast from 7-11 am. Earl's Hideaway is a biker and family friendly restaurant with a huge tiki bar. Great food and drink, fair prices, and a beautiful river view add to the charm of this Sebastian landmark! Enjoy national touring acts every Sunday afternoon, and live music all weekends.

By Steve Keller

Don't call it a comeback, but rather a testament of the promising original music scene here in Brevard County. Fresh off of another successful Space Coast Music Festival, we will take a look at some of the movers and shakers who shape our scene and look to make 2023 their year...

You can't talk about last month's Festival without talking about the somewhat surprising reunion of Contenders. We caught up with guitarist/founder Jason Anz post performance to get his review and predictions of things to come. "It was fun, I definitely miss playing the songs", he confided. As far as the catalyst that got them back together? Money? Furs? "It mostly came about after Whisper's (Anz's current band Whisper To A Riot) drummer Mike E Styx sent me a photo of some random drunk dude wearing a Contenders shirt at an open jam," he continues. "I sent the photo to Jack, Matt, and Jeremy. None of us recognized him. The next day, Matt texted me about doing a reunion for the fest. I said I'd do it if Jeremy was down, and Jack had previously expressed interest in a reunion. Jeremy agreed, and there you have it." Anz says that he might be convinced to regroup again, as time permits. What is the status of Whisper To A Riot? "Whisper is on hiatus, currently. We've got some recording and mixing to finish up, though. I've been super swamped at Zone (Productions) lately, so not much time to get that going." Both bands have been and could be again staples in our scene and true examples of how much talent we have here.

Best Fest happened on the Friday before the music festival. Our goal was always to introduce newer bands to the masses that might not have known they existed. PagingMrHerman and Damion Suomi had great sets and proved why they have been on the scene for so long. Show opener Rainy Angel has graced these pages many times and rightfully so. Two bands that you may not know yet that performed were Lily Of The Valley and Dollmaker. Quite different from each other but equally worth checking out. Lily has had some great gigs in both downtown Melbourne and Eau Gallie as of late. The 5 piece are much too young to wear their classic rock influences on their sleeves a la Greta Van Fleet but it works for them. A loyal, loud fan base turns out at each show, which is really half the battle in building your band. Look for them on Instagram and on a local stage soon to close out this year. Dollmaker come from different beginnings. Formed from the ashes of many different Orlando bands, this quartet is led by singer Alicia Olink. Think Garbage meets Siousie Sioux and you have quite the dynamic band. Very much welcomed in our diverse music scene. Check them out online as well on Facebook and live when you can...

Gotta give some love to Tone Deaf Pedestrians. This great up and coming band, who are working so hard on more original music, got rained out at SCMF. They handled it like pros, a trait that will serve them well later in their careers. Keep an eye out for upcoming shows and see their evolution as a band as well as fine young gentlemen.

I know that I'm not the only one who is happy to see the remaining members of Spanks back out on the scene. "We decided to retire the name of the band out of respect after the passing of lead guitarist Mike Gattiker," says lead singer Candi Marie. "We really had no idea what direction the band would take." The remaining members, bassist Steve Caroppoli and drummer Tim Snell welcomed former White Coat Syndrome keyboardist Ross Goodfellow and newcomer and 'Brazilian Madman' Wesley Martin's de Macedo as their new guitarist. All that was left was to find a name for the new band. After much deliberation, 'Not Just Candi' was chosen and is a perfect description. Find out more on NotJustCandi.com as they prepare to make their live debut on New Year's Eve!

I'm also happy to report that another musician, perhaps more known for his cover gigs, is releasing new original music. Matt Adkins is a talented singer/songwriter who really doesn't need any introduction. His latest single is titled 'S.O.S.'. "I wrote this song in one of my best friends living rooms in 2006, the lyrics reference "Same Old Song" hence the name S.O.S., but it's also a distress signal for a relationship that's in trouble," he explains. The track was performed by Adkins and former Dishwalla singer/former Brevard resident JR Richards, who also produced the track. Adkins tells the Lowdown that the new song is available on iTunes, Apple Music, Spotify, Pandora, and all other digital streaming platforms worldwide. He also will have copies of the single and other related merch at his upcoming shows. Look for a follow up single called 'Pictures Of You' sometime in early 2023.

So there you have it. Dipping our toes back into the original music waters here in Brevard County. This time of year; post festival and chop full of late year holidays always make me melancholy. Hopeful for the new year and all of the possibilities that it brings. Be good to yourself, and others always.

Feel free to hit me up online at keller5@hotmail.com and also on www.locallivehub.com for all things local and original. Until next time Brevard...

Holidazed 2022

Happy Holidaze! Once again it's that time of year. For some it's a time to celebrate the birth of Jesus. Even though, no one really knows when he was born. Christmas wasn't even celebrated until about 350 A.D. when Pope Julius 1st decreed it so. After all, there were many festivities around the world during December, even before Jesus. Much of Europe celebrated the winter solstice as the long days of darkness were behind and longer, warmer days were ahead. In Scandinavia, much of the same was done and celebrated the "Yule". They would bring home large logs to burn and feast until the logs burnt out. In Germany, they would honor the Norse god Oden. Then, of course, there was Saturnalia celebrated by the Romans. It was a hedonistic, month long celebration honoring Saturn, the god of agriculture. There was so much debauchery going on during these Pagan celebrations, I guess the Pope figured he'd introduce Christmas to compete and drag people away from the Pagan rituals. Now the idea of Christmas was really frowned upon by the Puritans, many centuries later. There was five pence fine for anybody caught celebrating the day.

Obviously, there is no mention of Christmas in the Bible, yet there are verses that celebrate Jesus's life. You've probably seen them in Christmas cards. The original translation in the Bible was a little different than what we are used to now. For example, does this sound familiar: "O Birther! Father-Mother of the Cosmos, you create all that moves in light. Focus your light within us — make it useful: as the rays of a beacon show the way. Unite our "I can" to yours, so that we walk as kings and queens with every creature. Create in me a divine cooperation — from many selves, one voice, one action. Grant what we need each day in bread and insight. Forgive our hidden past, the secret shames, as we consistently forgive what others hide. Deceived neither by the outer nor the inner — free us to walk your path with joy. From you is born all ruling will, the power and life to do, the song that beautifies all from age to age it renews. Amen." Sound familiar? No? This is a translation of the "Lord's Prayer" taken directly from the original Aramaic texts written in the late first century A.D. It's a little different than the "Our Father, who art in Heaven.” version we’re so accustomed to. Now that’s a Christmas card! I wonder how much else is different in the Aramaic version. After the translation into Greek, then Latin, then edited, then re-edited, then translated to English, I’m sure it’s a lot different than what we know it to be today. Even the Bibles from the 1800’s sound different than what we’re used to.

The Septuagint is the original version of the Old Testament. It was originally translated from Hebrew to Greek somewhere in the third century B.C. It is also mistakenly, by some, considered to be the Hebrew Bible. They do, however differ some. This was the first Bible in the world that was translated by an American in 1808. It took Charles Thomson 19 years to complete an accurate translation. He was a friend of Thomas Jefferson and learned Greek so he could accomplish this colossal undertaking. The Apocrypha is a direct result of the translation of the Septuagint. As many of you know, the Apocrypha are books of the Bible that were taken out by the Romans in the 4th century A.D. It contains stories, histories, ancient wisdom, as well as additions to the canonical books, including the apocalyptic Book of Enoch. In 382 A.D., Jerome was commissioned by the Pope to do another translation of the Bible. He went to Palestine rather than Alexandria to get the original scripts. There he found 14 books that were included in the Alexandria texts that were not in the Palestinian texts. These texts became the Apocrypha, meaning “hidden things”.

Ok, so that will cover your reading materials for a while. So, let’s celebrate what Christmas has really become. Being thankful to find a parking spot at the mall. Being thankful to get that last X-Box in the store and making it back to your car without having the crap beat out of you for aforementioned X-Box. Of course, gluttony to the extreme is a forgone conclusion. It’s the only time of year you can get eggnog. Strings of lights adorn your house, inside and out. There’s a tree in the living room! Here’s wishing you all a very happy Christmaskwanzasolsticec-hunnikah celebration and as always, I hope you don’t get too HOLIDAZED!

Heidi's Jazz Club & Restaurant in Cocoa Beach

Keeping The Tradition Adding A Fresh Flair

Heidi's Jazz Club and Heidelberg Restaurant have been a destination for decades. When it sold in 2021, patrons were wondering if the new owners and management will keep the music format and upscale cuisine. The answer is YES! "We want to keep what has made Heidi's so unique and popular," says General Manager Rick Lohr, "and add to it." Lohr who comes with 30 years of hospitality experience recently took the first step to rebrand the venue that will now be known as "Heidi's Jazz Club & Restaurant," drop the Heidelberg.

When Heidi's closed last September, it wasn't for the traditional month long vacation. "We renovated the entire place," says Rick. The restaurant and jazz club were painted, the carpet is new, the outside building got a new paint coat and new awnings, the renovated patio has now brand new furniture, and since last month the new sign over the entrance gives the venue a slick polish. Other improvements are a new sound system that also includes the patio.

Since the rebranding and reopening Heidi's offers lunch from Noon to 4pm and dinner from 4 to 11pm Wednesdays through Sundays. The menu is "continental" and still features Schnitzel, Sauerbraten, Goulash, Brat- and Knackwurst, Filet Steak, Chicken, Fish and more. All bread and desserts are made from scratch and freshly prepared once, sometimes twice a week. This is no surprise because the man in the kitchen is chef Armin Rinoessl who came from Austria and has worked at Heidelberg restaurant for the past 19 years creating the Haute Cuisine.

Heidi's Jazz Club has been known for featuring the best jazz performers around and special shows with national and international artists. "This is not your rock'n roll bar," says Rick. "Classic rock is everywhere, and we don't want to turn into a blues club either." Indeed, the same favorite jazz artists like Sybil Gage, Ron Teixeira Trio, Steve Kirsner & Friends are regular performers. You will find the hilarious Rev Billy C. Wirtz and some touring acts like Albert Castiglia and Tinsley Ellis on the calendar. "Heidi's stage features Jazz, R & B, some Pop and Blues," explains Rick. "And while the regular nightly entertainment is free for our guests, we charge admission for special concerts."

It is the cozy and eclectic atmosphere that makes Heidi's a special venue, not just for the listener but also for artists. "Blues musician Mike Zito raved about the room, the acoustics, and the crowd," says Rick. "We try to book special bands on Sundays and Wednesdays because these are our slower days and we want to create a special draw." Besides looking at our Brevard Live calendar you can check out their new website - www.heidisjazzclub.com. The site is completely overhauled and updated with upcoming concerts, lunch and dinner menu, and you can even buy tickets with a link to eventbrite for special concerts or make reservations via a link to Open Table.

Heidelberg restaurant was founded in 1986 by Edmund and Heidi Deleuil, then in 1992 they added a small jazz venue, mainly because Heidi was a jazz lover. She passed away in 2020, then the pandemic hit and after a couple of years of overseeing two venues, Eddie wanted to sell and he did. Now, a year later, the entire venue has arrived into the 21st century with all the technical bells and whistles.

So who owns the revamped Heidi's Jazz Club & Restaurant? "That would be Rani Marom and Ori Tal who bought the business along with the building," says Rick who has been put in charge to manage Heidi's since March 2021. His goal is to keep the venue connected to its local roots while attracting music and food lovers beyond our borders making it again the "world famous Heidi's Jazz Club" - as once voted by Downbeat Magazine.

Heidi's will be open for Christmas (and all holidays) and Rick plans a BIG NYE Party. For specials and prices go to heidisjazzclub.com or call 321-783-6806.

Note from the editor: Heidi Deleuil, you left such an impact on Brevard that you got branded and became a legend. We are so proud of you!

FUNPIPE

By Steve LeClair

As they say, No Hype, Just Pipe! - if you're looking for a fun night rockin' out, look no further than to where Funpipe is playing. Funpipe rocks you with hard rock arena classics from Guns & Roses, A/C D/C, Zeppelin, Styx, Iron Maiden, Deep Purple, Rush and many more.

The band has been playing shows in Brevard and Central Florida for over 13 years and though they have dabbled in originals from time to time, they are committed to bringing you the best hard rock music there is. Through their labor of love and the enjoyment of the craft, Paul Bender and the band strive to bring you a quality night of music and the best performance of the songs their fans love. The band itself has found what songs work best for their followers and put a lot of energy and focus into their shows.

Funpipe consists of Ed Robinson on bass, keyboards, and vocals. Ed comes from a musical family as his father was a famous musician. While growing up in Connecticut he was in Glee club, played piano and jammed a lot with many musicians. As a multi-instrumentalist (which he started at an early age), Ed has played numerous styles of music including Jazz, Country, Heavy Metal, and Progressive music. Here in Brevard County, Ed was part of several bands since the 80's and has played with a long list of local talent. His main job is a freelance contracto, and he can build or restore just about anything. Ed joined Funpipe coming out of a semi-retirement from music performance. He would fill in for their previous bassist Tim Starace when Tim went out of town. When he later moved away, Ed took the permanent spot and added keyboards to their sound. Tim commented, "He and the other members seem to fit well together in the 'band of misfit toys', both in talent & personality." Paul interjected, "Funpipe doesn't fit the typical Hard rock band persona, they do it for the love and fun of playing and feeling the music gives us."

John Dinsmoore is on lead guitar. He was born and raised in Free-land Michigan. John has been playing professionally since his senior year of High School. While he moved to Las Vegas for a recording project, he ended up touring in the 90's with a few 'A' circuit bands before settling in Florida and playing for acts in Orlando and Daytona circuit. He caught Funpipe at a local show in Cocoa Village and knew instantly that it was a band he could fit into. He commented about playing in the band: "It's nice to perform with players of caliber that force you to keep your chops up. Our set list consists of all of the tunes that were in the cassette holder in my car growing up. If you come to Funpipe show, you have to like Hard Rock! We don't do all the typical dance favorites and it is a blast tackling some of the tougher tunes with the guys. It's so much more than just a Friday night gig to us....feels better every show."

Paul Bender is the lead singer and adds guitar. Most of his musical background was in chorus classes and listening to the music around him as he grew up. He remembers, "My mom played piano and Dad played the record player... there was always lots of music around." Once he got out of High School, he started playing in local bands here in Brevard, most notably the band Hard Knox. He moved to Orlando in the late 80's and tried to start a band, but as the music scene changed, the band thing fizzled. He started a family around this time also, so he kind of stopped playing, and like many, family became the focus for a number of years. He moved back to Brevard County and joined a couple projects in the 90's before it became a steady thing in 2000 singing for the hair metal band Stiletto out of Titusville. He started singing in Stiletto when a couple guys asked him if he could fill in for a singer that left. Paul told me, "Turns out that was my forte!" Fun facts – Stiletto has opened for Twisted Sister and Funpipe have opened for Stryper among others! Funpipe was started basically out of that band. A friend of Paul's, Mike Coe, had stepped in to play drums and a friend of his, Mark Kaleiwahea on bass.

Upon ending Stiletto Mike and Paul asked Mark if he would do guitar duties in a wider compassed hard rock project. At that time, Greg Summers joined and became the bassist. Paul said, "We had our first show... no name and four sarcastic smart asses and came up with name Funpipe and somehow it stuck." Kenny Rhino Earl who is most notably the former drummer for Manowar is filling in on drums. His main band is Angels of Babylon and is also part of Burning Starr. Funpipe is lucky enough to know him as a friend and have him at the kit as their Interim Drummer. Those that know Rhino know he delivers the goods! He is also one heck of a guy!

You can catch the band several times a month at local venues throughout Brevard. The band also supports various fundraisers, most notably the Kidney Foundation. Going to a Funpipe show, you'll find that though often imitated, they are never duplicated and deliver Hard Rock in Brevard like no one else. You can check them out on their Facebook page under Funpipe.

SPYRO GYRA

Due to touring and traveling interruptions with the Spyro Gyra tour and Hurricane Ian, a new date has been made available to play at the King Center Studio Theatre on Thursday, January 19, 2023.

October 2019 witnessed the release of Spyro Gyra's first album of new material in six years. Once again, they have upset expectations by recording an album of all cover songs. In a nod to drawing heavily from their earlier pop and rock influences, Vinyl Tap. It's going to upset some expectations of a collection of romantic favorites by a contemporary jazz artist. Be prepared for some surprises, like a Latin big band approach to Cream's "Sunshine Of Your Love". Or maybe a stunning arrangement of Blind Faith's "Can't Find My Way Home". Or maybe a slowed down, bluesy version of Squeeze's "Tempted" might be more your style.

"My hope is that our music has the same effect on the audience that it does on me," says group leader Jay Beckenstein. "I've always felt that music, and particularly instrumental music, has this non-literal quality that lets people travel to a place where there are no words. Whether it's touching their emotions or connecting them to something that reminds them of something much bigger than themselves, there's this beauty in music that's not connected to sentences. It's very transportive. I hope that when people hear our music, they're able to share that with us."

By Matthew Bretz

One night recently, as I was drifting off to sleep, I was going over column ideas in my head. That usually happens, when one is trying to make decisions as they doze off, my train of thought eventually entered a dark tunnel somewhere down the track where all questions and answers were lost to unconsciousness.

When I woke the next morning I reached for my phone to check the time. The screen was black. The phone was exhausted of power. Adrenaline immediately hit my blood stream as I came to the realization that my alarm hadn't sounded and I was late for work. I jumped out of bed, rushed to get dressed, sprinted to my office... I work at home so it wasn't a long sprint, but a sprint nonetheless... pushed the power button on my laptop and sat down just in time to see the numbers on the clock turn to 5:02AM. I wasn't late. I was four hours early.

And that's how I decided the subject of this month's column: Daylight Savings Time! So, let's get to it then.

Thinking about daylight savings time (DST), it came to me that I have some basic questions I want to find the answers to. What is DST? Why is DST? Do we still need it? If so, why? Has any time actually been saved? And if so, where is it and who is keeping track of it?

Growing up I heard a lot of stories about the origins of DST. I remember learning that Ben Franklin came up with the idea. I also remember hearing it was for farmers to have more daylight time to do farmer things. None of this is true. So, to properly investigate the origins of DST we sent a reporter halfway across the world (no, we didn't) to New Zealand where it turns out to have been first invented. Yep - NZ! Not by Benjamin Franklin. Yes, Franklin did tout the philosophy of early to bed early to rise, but he didn't even follow his own idea, much less offer up a plan for it.

The originator of this awful practice was a man named George Vernon Hudson. Hudson, a British-born entomologist who spent most of his life in New Zealand, proposed the idea of a two-hour time shift so he could have more time to look for bugs (that's what entomologists do). This was in 1895, and although this was the first time the world would hear about DST, it wouldn't be implemented by anyone until 1916 when Germany decided to adopt the practice to conserve energy during the first world war. Two years later America took on DST for the same reasons; but only for seven months. It wouldn't become a year-round policy until the world was at war for the second time.

So, you see it was never meant for farmers at all! As a matter of fact, the agriculture industry was completely against it. Farmers don't go by clocks to plan their day as much as they do the sun so it caused a major disruption. They now had to wait an extra hour for dew to evaporate off the crops, workers still went home at the same time for dinner even though the sun was up, so they were actually losing money there. And cows weren't ready to be milked an hour earlier just because the clock said so.

In 2005 congress enacted the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (super clever name) and every U.S. state or territory was given the decision to either opt in or out of DST. Make this is a good time to reiterate that this practice was invented by a guy who wanted more time to look for bugs. Ok! So Congress told everyone to choose yay or nay and you know what? A bunch of states jumped ship. Alabama, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Ohio, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Utah, Washington and Wyoming all said no to the craziness, and they have been free of it ever since. Some countries that were into it fell out along the way too. So, now it's not a worldwide practice or even a fully national practice; it's just something we do in some places for reasons that don't make sense anymore, and it causes a whole lot of chaos twice a year. This year the senate is voting on whether or not to make DST permanent and with everything we now know, one has to wonder why do we still have it at all? To answer that question, I called (read an article by) my good friend (never met her) Dr. Elizabeth Klerman, a professor of neurology in the division of sleep medicine at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Klerman is very clear on her opinion, which is apparently shared by her colleagues, that turning our clocks ahead an hour in the spring is a bad, bad thing to do.

"I'm one of many sleep experts that knows it's a bad idea," said Dr. Klerman. "Your body clock stays with (natural) light not with the clock on the wall, and there's no evidence your body fully shifts to the new time. Between March and November your body gets less morning light and more evening light, which can throw off your circadian rhythm."

What the experts are saying is that

Standard Time - the one we “fall” back to - is much closer to the sun’s day and night cycle. This cycle has set our circadian rhythm or body clock, for centuries. The thing is that internal timer doesn’t just control when you sleep. It also handles when you eat, exercise, work and play. It helps regulate your heart rate, blood pressure and cortisol rhythm. Studies have shown that offsetting our internal clocks from the solar day/night cycle by even one hour can cause a new term I just learned about - “Social Jet Lag.” Funny name, but not so funny symptoms. Social Jet Lag has been proven to increase the risk of metabolic disorders like diabetes, heart disease and stroke, worsen mood disorders and depression, affect the digestive and endocrine systems. It can even reduce life expectancy... WHAT?!

As of late more than 20 medical, scientific and civic organizations have joined a proposal to band DST and go to Standard Time permanently and Congress wants to move clocks an hour ahead of the sun and leave them there forever. I don’t get it. Honestly, I had no idea this was going to be such a big thing when I started this journey. I was just annoyed at the bi-yearly time change and having to change all the clocks again. Proponents claim that extra daylight in the evening butts down on crime and car accidents, but last time they tried to do this in 1974 the governor of Florida called for its repeal after 8 kids were hit while walking to school in the dark.

Let’s recap! Daylight Saving Time was not invented by Benjamin Franklin. It wasn’t invented for farmers - they don’t even like it. It WAS invented by George Hudson, but mainly to see insects better. It’s potentially damaging to both our somatic and mental health. Most countries don’t follow it, and not even all the U.S. states do. It does not cut down on crime or car accidents and even seems to cause more pedestrians to be hit in the dark. And the only time it ever seemed to be of any use was during the great wars... maybe. I think the time has come to leave this practice where it belongs... in the history books.

Holiday Feasts Old Florida & Swamp Style!

By Charles Knight

When the nearest grocery store is an hour and a half drive away, you pretty much need to have a garden. Some of the things that you should grow are scallions, onions, radishes, lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes, cucumber, and any number of other veggies that suite your palette. We had almost all of them in addition to okra and collard greens. Our neighbor down the road a ways had several dozen banana trees as well as other fruit bearing flora, we often traded fresh vegetables for fruit. Keeping the wildlife out of your garden was a chore in itself. However, sometimes the animals that stole your food became a dinner. If a rabbit took a liking to your carrots or cucumbers, then it was fair game as far as we were concerned. I have eaten more than a few rabbits and at least one deer that made that mistake.

There are seasons for hunting deer, turkey and other meat sources, and when I was growing up it was completely illegal to hunt alligators at all, but we didn't really care because one good sized gator or deer could provide enough protein to feed a family of four for a week or more. Licensed deer hunters in Florida can hunt just before the start of the holidays and as such allowing the legal harvesting of foodstuffs for the folks that lived in the woods and city alike.

I wasn't overly concerned with getting caught killing a gator or even a deer or turkey out of season because I wasn't doing it for profit, and I could haul my kill home and harvest the meat before anyone was any the wiser, we were surviving. I didn't have a car that was street legal so driving to Miami was out of the question so...A hunting I would go!

There were (and hopefully still are) plenty of other animals to hunt and eat in the Everglades. Wild hogs are non indigenous and very destructive to the habitat and are legal to trap or kill at any time of the year in Florida, keep one thing in mind though, hunting in the National Park is strictly forbidden and the punishment is very serious as it's Federal land. I never hunted in the Park. Where I hunted was ours and friends' property. It's all now part of the park though.

Curlew and Ironhead are two species of wild birds in the Glades that taste at least as good as chicken or better! Several species of duck pass through the area during their annual migrations. A lot of the old timers regularly consumed bear, opossum, armadillo, tortoise, raccoon, and even rattlesnake. I've tasted all of them but found most too gamey, greasy, disturbing and somewhat unpleasant with the exception of tortoise. Most tortoise and turtle meat is very similar to beef in flavor and texture. We ate them both often. There are also many wild roots and plants that can be eaten both cooked and raw in Florida as well as berries. As kids we picked a LOT of elderberries and gave them to my aunt to make wine with. We almost always got a gallon of wine as a reward.

Swamp cabbage tastes pretty much like it sounds but it's a heck of a lot of work to harvest! First you chop down the tree (aptly called the Cabbage Palm) then carve away the bark and wood surrounding the actual cabbage and cook it to your particular taste. I like it best when cooked with wild hog, garlic and onions. Yum!

I know this seems like a lot of work and to some of you perhaps even a little disgusting but try and remember that less than one hundred years ago there were no big box grocery stores. Heck, I remember a time in the early sixties that when we did get to go shopping for food, we went to the butchers for meats, the bakery for breads and sweet delicacies, then the produce stand for veggies and the dairy for milk butter and cheese, yep that was a mere fifty something years ago.

Thanksgiving and Christmas in the Everglades was Fresh Turkey and cornbread stuffing (sometimes oyster stuffing), wild roasted boar meat, mashed yams with butter and a pinch of cinnamon, cranberry sauce and green bean casserole among other home grown and cooked side dishes. If we were really blessed some our Miccosukee and Seminole friends brought fish or crawdads or another of their tasty native dishes to share. For dessert we'd have homemade pumpkin, apple, and mincemeat pies with hand churned home made ice cream. We eat well today but in my opinion...Not nearly as well as we did then.

From our family to yours we wish each and every one of you a happy and wonderfully delicious and prosperous Holiday season! That's my Flori-Duh!

Rigg's Outpost FISHING REPORT DECEMBER FORECAST

By Captain Pompano Rich

Anglin Santa - a December fishcation in Brevard. Bring all your elves and grand elves cause we have aquatic gifts for all. 'Tis the season to hook up at Melbourne's Holiday Village! Upon arrival Santa Tony and his helpers will scramble to fill your lists. Across the street is a plethora of 20 foot buoyant sleds. Some have shady roofs and some center console command centers. The fees are super affordable. For a 22 foot pontoon with a comfortable capacity of 8 people it's 250 for a half day. Clean with daily engine maintenance we are ready to untie the cleats and put you in the right direction.

Once out there you actually don't have to chase fish here because you will have the right bait and they will find you. Essentially a bottom rig with a live shrimp would be inhaled by a black drum from 2 to 30 pounds. "Big Ugliers" is what we call them. No use getting up early for these fish. They just mosey around and suck up crabs and shrimp all Winter Day long.

Our lagoon is clear during the the winter. Early in the morning and shallow tides most species will harbor in deeper and findable basins. Casting a soft plastic DOA at these holes is a tactic that fishing guides use. Drifting a live bait is killer! As the sun rises and the tides increase drum will roam the flats searching for crabs. Trout and redfish may seek the mangrove shoreline to seek greenies and minnows. Your safest bet is to anchor up in casting range of the mangrove shadows. There the wiley hard fighting mangrove snapper are feeding. Pitching a top water chugger could noise a redfish or a sea trout to hook up. Fish metabolisms slow with cooler waters. So retrieve your lures and baits very slowly.

Our beaches are numerous and natural. Once you cross the 192 bridge eastbound you quickly pass the Beach Downtown and turn right on A1A. Head south a few a miles and Beach Parks will appear with historic signs regarding the pirates and the founders of our barrier island. Ponce De Leon footprints were once here! Year round our beaches casual and spacious.

Don't pass up 70 degree days, beautiful beaches, a historic estuary plus a ton of fish. If you really want to catch all these species hook up with Matt Burr. He's a licensed Charter Captain and works at Riggs Outpost. Come to Brevard and let Rigg's Outpost help make your vacation the best! I'm Pompano Rich and I'm wishing you all a great holiday and super 2023!
